RE: Relationship with No Roads Expeditions

I would like to introduce No Roads Expeditions to you and your business. No Roads Expeditions takes its clients on some of the most challenging and remote expeditions in the world. Our journeys range from the relaxing yet fascinating Komodo Dragon expedition, to the infamous Kokoda Track to the top of the highest trekkable summit in the world; Mera Peak (Nepal) at over 6500m ASL.

No Roads is run fundamentally differently to any other adventure travel company you may already be dealing with. In many cases we are the operator not a wholesaler and thus you are dealing directly with the people who run the show.

We also believe that for many companies, the adventure has been lost and that the main priority is to herd as many people from one destination to another. No Roads not only offers expeditions others don't undertake, but when it comes to the more popular such as Kilimanjaro, we offer unique itineraries and routes, to keep it interesting for your trekkers. Our aim is have your clients come back for more, year after year.

Our expeditions are run conscientiously, understanding and reflecting the needs of both the local culture and its environment. By signing up on one of our journeys, clients can rest assured that their hard earned dollar is not only going to provide an amazing experience but also flows back to those that really make our expeditions possible; the locals.

No Roads Expeditions offers very attractive commissions on all its expeditions. For travel in Papua New Guinea and Indonesia, we offer agents a 20% commission. For all other expeditions such as Nepal, Bhutan, Ethiopia, Tanzania, Libya, Laos and Australia, we offer a 10% commission.

We also provide you with DVD's of many of our expeditions, brochures, an opportunity for a No Roads rep to talk with a group you are putting together (where ever you are in Australia), pre-departure information, vouchers upon payment as well as comprehensive dossiers on each of our expeditions.

If you are interested in this proposal please take a look at our web site at www.noroads.com.au. Feel free to call or email to discuss any of these matters.

To register, simply click on Log In and you can register your business.

I look forward to catching up with you in the near future.

Regards,

Peter Miller
